Chapter 20: Of Christian Liberty, and Liberty of Conscience

The liberty which Christ hath purchased for believers under the Gospel, consists in their freedom from the guilt of sin, the condemning wrath of God, the curse of the moral law; and, in their being delivered from this present evil world, bondage to Satan and dominion of sin; from the evil of afflictions, the sting of death, the victory of the grave, and everlasting damnation; as also, in their free access to God, and their yielding obedience unto Him, not out of slavish fear, but a child-like love and willing mind. All which were common also to believers under the law; but, under the new testament, the liberty of Christians is further enlarged in their freedom from the yoke of the ceremonial law, to which the Jewish Church was subjected, and in greater boldness of access to the throne of grace, and in fuller communications of the free Spirit of God, than believers under the law did ordinarily partake of.

Worship Guide – Psalm 1:1-4, 6

The Psalter begins by declaring the great happiness of those who find their delight in following the Word of the living God. Compared to a well-watered tree, from whom the Lord will bring blessings to others as He blesses, he is contrasted with those who pursue the idle works and wisdom of man: they will be found wanting and in time blown away (v. 1-5). May we, thus, always be encouraged to cling to the grace given in Christ Jesus, for our Sovereign Lord is He who “searches mind and heart, and... will give to each of you as your works deserve” (v. 6; Revelation 2:23).
